Dr. Edward J. Monahan

President's Welcome

Dr. Edward J. Monahan, President of Laurentian University was born in Brantford, Ontario. He is a graduate of the University of Toronto where he obtained Bachelor's and Master's degrees in Philosophy, as well as his doctorate. He also studied at the Pontifical Institute of Medieval Studies where he was awarded a licentiate.

After teaching Philosophy at Villanova University and Xavier University in the United States, Dr. Monahan spent eight years at St. Francis Xavier University in Antigonish, Nova Scotia, where he was professor of Philosophy. He was then appointed Associate Executive Secretary of the Canadian Association of University Teachers. During the year 1970-71, he also served as Acting Director of the Canadian Council for Research in Education. At present, he is the executive-assistant to the Principal of Queen's University.

Dr. Monahan was editor of the Canadian Association of University Teacher's Bulletin and co-chairman of the Commission of Inquiry on Forty Catholic Church related colleges and Universities in Canada. He has accepted the editorship of a proposed journal of higher education sponsored by the Canadian Society for the Study of Higher Education.

The author of a dozen published articles, Dr. Monahan has also done a large number of book reviews. He is a member of several learned societies and professional associations.

The President of Laurentian University, his wife and their five children resides at 179 John Str. Sudbury.

THE WELCOME

It is my pleasure on this occasion to extend a hearty welcome to Laurentian students, both to those who are returning and especially to those who are entering our University for the first time.

Those who are entering Laurentian for the first time, particularly if they are newly graduated from secondary school, will find a few things different here from their former school experience. You will have more freedom and you will be left very much more on your own. If you choose to exercise your freedom responsibly and to act independently, your university experience will be rewarding. But that is up to you. As an adult in an adult educational environment, resolve to make the most of your opportunities, academic, cultural, recreational and social.

You will, I think, find Laurentian a friendly place with an informal atmosphere. Students, faculty and administrative staff are easy-going and approachable. The small size of our community, with many small classes and excellent physical facilities, helps to create an excellent learning environment. The wide range of academic programmes, which bring together students with diverse academic interests, adds variety to the academic life of the University and a further dimension to your educational opportunities.

The bilingual character of Laurentian, still in the process of development, provides nearly unique opportunities for students, both anglophone and francophone, to develop a fuller understanding and appreciation of each others' cultures. I urge especially those students whose first language is English to seize the opportunities you have here at Laurentian to improve your understanding of the French language and culture, and thereby become better Canadians as well as better educated.

The staff of Laurentian, faculty and administration, are here to serve you. To do this we need your cooperation and assistance. Together, staff and students, we share important educational tasks. Your participation is essential. Welcome to our learning community.

Edward J. Monahan
President

Housing

There should be no shortage of residence accommodation on the Laurentian campus this fall. According to Mr. Hennessey, Director of Services, applications for residence accommodation for the 1974-75 academic year have risen over last year's figures.

The residences at Laurentian can accommodate 1,200 students. University College Residence, Huntington, Thornloe and University of Sudbury are all full, a change from last year when at University College, forty beds were empty.

The Single Students Apartment building and Married Students apartment tower are going into their second year of operation. 170 out of 400 beds have been rented in the Single Students Apartments. It is hoped that at least 200 beds will be filled. The outlook is more promising at the Married Students Apartments where it is forecasted that 125 of 129 apartments will be rented.

DAMAGE

Last April, damage totalling $1,500 was found in three of the Single Students Apartments, where there was extensive damage. The students responsible were not returned the $50 caution fee they had paid at the start of the year. In some instances damage was not extensive. For example, in apartments where walls were marked and had to be repainted. In these cases it was difficult to determine how much the student should be asked to pay because often the whole wall or the entire room had to be repainted.

WARNING

Students living in the Single Students Apartments should be aware that any posters they tape to the wall will tear the paint off.

A meeting between administration and students will be held in the beginning of the year to make the students aware that they are responsible for any damage in their apartments. If a group of students are found to have damaged their apartment usually all are held responsible, even though someone may not be guilty, because it is difficult to determine which are innocent.

In renting the Single Students Apartments, preference is given to second and third year students who apply in groups. This avoids conflicts later in cases where people do not get along well. It is presumed that by second or third year, the students will have chosen roommates who are compatible.

No extensive damage has been reported in the Married Students Apartment Tower. The Administration has received complaints concerning children playing in the halls, and causing a disturbance. This problem should be overcome because most of the students with children have left the apartments. Roman Woloschuk, Laurentian student awards officer, has said that students with children will be housed at the low-cost housing near Plaza 69, Four Corners.

In the future apartments will not be rented to students with children. Pets have posed another problem in the apartments. In the lease signed by all occupants, it was stated that no pets would be allowed. Some students overlooked this and had pets living with them. These students have been sent a letter reminding them of the lease and explaining that either the pet or the person goes.

As far as rents go for Married Students Apartments, the present cost is $125 per month. The rent will not increase this year but there may be an increase after April.

ELSEWHERE

The outlook for Laurentian Student housing is bright but not so for several other Ontario universities. At Guelph University it is feared that 600-700 students out of a total of 10,000 will have nowhere to live. The rents at Guelph have increased by $30, as at Lakehead University, where students who paid $120 per month last May will now have to pay $150 for the same accommodations.

Due to the shortage of housing students at Guelph, Lakehead, Queens and Waterloo have decided to form tent cities.

SHINERAMA

Cystic Fibrosis strikes without discrimination or warning. There is no cure, no corrective surgery which can ease the afflicted child's suffering. Here in Sudbury there are children who fight daily for every breath they draw while parents and medical personnel stand by helplessly. Their anxiety is unmeasurable. They never know when that precious function of breathing will be threatened or ceased of all time.

A child is precious to any parent but he is more so when his life span is constantly hanging in the balance. A child with cystic fibrosis entitled to every day because he has to fight for it, he can't stop the struggle for one second. You can make that fight a little easier for him, his parents and the hundreds of medical personnel who spend hours trying to find a break-through cure. How? By giving up a few hours of your time to canvass on behalf of the cystic fibrosis organization - Shinerama. The effort you spend is only a small portion of the effort that a cystic fibrosis child puts in to breathing, that parents spend in fighting to keep them alive and that medical teams spend in trying to find a preventative cure. Help keep these children alive by giving some time to a worthy cause. HELP GIVE A CHILD THE BREATH OF LIFE

New Pub

The Laurentian Pub has been re-located to the area below the cafeteria that was formerly the Schooner. This was done in order to prevent any recurrence of the vandalism that took place last year when the customers had access to the library tower and academic buildings.

The new Pub seats 400 people and is open Monday to Saturday from 12 noon to 1 am. Food will be served from noon until 1 o'clock and snacks from 5 until midnight. Beer costs 60 cents and liquor, 85 cents.

Lappas Bros. will be running it until the University gets its liquor licence in a month or so. At this point in time, the fight over who gets what in the way of a liquor licence is still being debated in Toronto.

The colour scheme is blue and gold with bamboo curtains over the windows. Washrooms are located right in the Pub so customers don't have to go upstairs. Altogether, the New Pub is an improvement over the old one in both looks and convenience.

On hand this week for the '74 resurrection of Lambda were: Eileen Boyle who spent a summer learning about newspaper work at Northern Life, Barb Cameron, who claims she had a real washed-out summer, Harry Sheppard, who shuffled around India, Dan McKinnon who became the sort of man who'd sell you a used car, Nancy Luhta, who became Mrs. Nancy Slawny, and editors Bob Forde, who welded a lot of things over the summer and Vivian Easton, who's still in the dark about the darkroom.

Some interesting people dropped by to wish us all well, like Karen with Neil's konica, Pat Cassidy, who's ice cream melted, Kathy with a k who is eager to get going on the sports page and Nell who can smell coffee brewing a mile away. And at the magic hour of 4 am a pooch who looked ready to deliver her pups in the comfort of the Lambda offices. To Bob Milks, our new business manager, get well if you're not already. Goodbyes to Don Charuba, Brian Penrose and John Clarke, hope you continue to read the alma mater's rag.

SGA/AGE WELCOME

et bienvenue à la Laurentienne. Il y aura, durant les deux semaines à suivre, mille-et-une activités pour vous tous. Vous avez, cette année, le choix de participer à des activités Françaises ou Anglaises (préférentiellement les deux).

Ceci n'est qu'un bref exemple des mois à suivre. Donc, plaire des mois à suivre. Donc, au nom de l'AGE, je vous souhaite tous une bonne année ici à la Laurentienne. Nous sommes ici pour vous, et nous tenteront de voir à toutes vos demandes. Vous êtes les bienvenus au bureau à tout temps, que ce soit pour une suggestion, une réponse à quelque question, ou seulement pour jaser. Ceci est nécessaire pour qu'il existe une bonne communication sur le campus.

Donc, dans l'espoir de vous voir bientôt, je demeure
Bien à vous,
Rachel Cantin,
V.P. Française
SGA/AGE

Salutations:

Glad to see you survived the summer. I'd like to convey to you now my best wishes and sincere hopes that all will go well for you in the up coming year.

At this time of the year, with all the fun and fanfare going on, it is probably not an appropriate time to deal with serious matters. However there are a few matters which I feel I should bring to your attention.

The first of which is the untimely death last spring of Bruce Bothwell who was the Vice President of the SGA. Bruce was an intelligent, energetic young man who had a lot to offer and had the determination to carry things through. His presence has been greatly missed both by myself and those who knew him.

Secondly is the sorry state of affairs with regards to student representation. It is somewhat ironic, perhaps even sad, that students in previous years had to fight to gain the right to have a voice in those decisions which affect our lives and future, only to find those fought-for positions now go vacant. Students who have any interest at all in having a say in matters which determine their lives at university, or, in the rules and regulations which govern us here, will have no trouble finding a place to express their views. Student representation on almost all Senate committees is currently vacant.

Senate, with its elaborate committee system is a bulky time-consuming organization. However it is the supreme decision-making body here at Laurentian for all academic matters. At present, student input is nil.

Although present attitudes, amongst students seems to be, "Who cares?", or, "Let someone else do it", the fact remains that when the weight of autocracy moves against students, there will only be two things left to do. You can either blithely put your tail between your legs and whimper in a corner.

By all counts, the social scene seems to be well in hand. A lot of work has been done on social events and I hope you all turn out and enjoy them.

In the hopes that you enjoy yourself and perhaps even involve yourself a little this year, I remain,

Respectfully yours
Neil MacDonald

Summer News Beat

While most of you were enjoying the trials and tribulations of job hunting, goofing off on some sandy beach, or travelling to far away places, some of us hacks were busy getting it all together for the coming '74-'75 term. Below is a brief summary of events which kept old L.U. running full swing, while you were away.

April . . .

Lambda now has coeditors, Robert Forde and Vivian Easton. This is the third attempt at co-editorship for the paper and if our morgue files are right, it will prove to be a good year for the paper. Both editors are eager to have the students participate in the workings of the press and anticipate a good year.

May . . .

Senate approved the S.G.A.'s nominations of Bruce Bothwell and Vivian Easton for the Senate Striking Committee. The two students were to assist in the naming of persons to sit on various committees of Senate. The tragic death of Bruce occurred before the first meeting was called to order. Neil MacDonald was then named to the Committee.

At present, there are thirteen vacant positions on various committees and just in case some of you might want to get involved, here's the list:

Committee on Library - two students

Curriculum Committee - one student

Joint Committee on Bilingualism and Biculturalism - two students

Committee on Undergraduate Academic Awards - two students.

Committee on Course Evaluation Questionnaire - one student.

Committee on Affiliated Colleges - one Laurentian student

Tenure Appeals Committee - two students

Committee on Admissions, Promotions and Petitions - three students.

Committee on Faculty Appointments and Promotions - one student

Apart from looking for students to sit on committees, a few of us dashed off to conferences in the anticipation that we would learn a few things. The Annual Ontario Federation of Students Conference was held in Ottawa. The four day Conference was hosted by Carleton University with its maze of graffiti decorated tunnels.

At the invitation of the OFS executive, Neil MacDonald, S.G.A. President and Vivian Easton, co-editor of Lambda, headed for the nation's capital. The two L.U. delegates were given the opportunity to meet with their counterparts from other Ontario universities to discuss problems that are common to all campuses.

The general outcome of the conference was that the OFS could offer LU assistance and there are definite benefits in returning to the federation. Although there was the usual periods of chaos, that in-flict conferences things did get done, often with a sense of humour as in the case of one proposal that a certain delegation be given muzzels in order that the business at hand could be got under way without further ado.

While in the capital, the LU delegation decided to investigate the axing of an OFY project that six Laurentian students proposed. It seems that if your OFY's don't pose a threat to the myths of our elders on the Hill, your in the money for the summer. After chasing every paper tiger that was remotely connected with the OFY portfolio, MacDonald and Easton resigned themselves to the inevitable fact that this country is run by paper manics. They received a great deal of assistance from the Nickel Belt MP, Mr. John Rodriguez and his secretary Ann Morrison.

While chasing around after the tin gods of the bureaucracy, Dorothy Wigmore from Northern Life was looking for answers in the home riding. Needless to say, the project was filed under secret weapons and likely will reappear should there be a Third World War.

July and Jack Porter . . .

On July 1st, John Clarke stepped down from his post as registrar and Jack Porter took over the helm. Clarke is now a law student at Queen's.

Jack Porter was formerly the acting principal of University College. Porter's coaching of the Vees hockey team ended in 1973 after five undefeated seasons.

Best of luck to Porter in his new capacity and to John Clarke May all your future clients win.

Graduation exercises went off without a hitch. Grace MacInnis, MP for Vancouver-Kingsway was awarded an honorary Doctorate of Laws by L.U.'s President Doctor Monahan. Dr. Wallace Lambert, a psychology professor at McGill received an honorary Doctorate of Letters and delivered the convocation address.

The ball was a social monger's dream. Dr. and Mrs. Monahan accompanied Mrs. MacInnis and guests to the event of the year. From what I could see, everyone enjoyed the day, the night and the next morning.

Just to spice the month, the OFS had a second conference. This time Glendon College in Toronto played host to the two day affair. The topic was orientation - social, political, and educational. This time four L.U. people piled into a compact and headed South. The two social convenors, Mark Mielo and Brian Wade along with Vivian Easton and Neil MacDonald listened to, questioned, challenged, and debated the impact of orientation. At one point the libbers managed to surface with the suggestion that dances were meat-markets. Well girls, some of the meat you'll meet looks pretty good. And to you bra-burning jockstrap-haters, remember; if you dress like a duck, talk like a duck and walk like a duck you will get called a duck!

In Memoriam

Death strikes incessantly and usually we never give it a passing thought. But occasionally it strikes close enough to affect us all. On May 16th, a mining accident claimed the life of a well-known Laurentian student - Bruce Bothwell.

Bruce was a unique person, one who lived his life with intense purpose and to its fullest potential. He was too busy living to waste his time complaining. Bruce, always himself and never pretending to be otherwise, was the sort of person who felt that life had a meaning and that meaning was helping others, in some way, at some time. He was involved with life, living it with sincerity and feeling. Excuses for opting-out never existed for Bruce. In an average day, he could cram in forty-eight hours of living, doing and helping.

In March of last year, Bruce ran for the position of vice-president English in the S.G.A. election. He won by a massive landslide victory. This was just one indication of the respect and trust that we had for him. We knew he cared, about us, about this university and about the future.

Bruce's tragic death separated him from his wife, his parents, a sister, relatives and countless friends. But it separated us only physically because for those of us who knew Bruce, nothing, not even his absence can wipe out our memories of a vivacious, honest and dedicated human being.

The following resume was written by Bruce's father at our request. It reflects aptly Bruce's energies and sensitivity. We have read it many times over because it is an honest and true record of a very honest and true person.

BRUCE BOTHWELL

Born in Picton on July 25, 1950, Bruce received his elementary education at Oakville Acton and North Bay. In North Bay, he attended Dr. Carruthers Public School, Chippewa and Widdifield secondary schools.

A hockey enthusiast, Bruce was a member of playground teams until he reached grade 9. In that year he played on the Chippewa school team. The following year he joined the North Bay Trappers junior team and played with them for that season and part of the next.

He took his grade 13 at T.L. Kennedy Collegiate in Cooksville and played hockey that year with Brampton in the Toronto Metro Junior B League.

While at Cooksville he accepted the offer of a hockey scholarship to Ohio University in Athens, Ohio. He had completed a year's study at Ohio when, in the aftermath of the Kent State incident, Ohio University, like other colleges in that state, was closed down. Disillusioned, Bruce decided to return to Canada to stay.

The following September he enrolled at Nipissing College of Laurentian University. That year he served as president of the Nipissing Students' Administrative Council.

While at Nipissing, he met his future wife, Suzanne LeSieur, then a student nurse in her graduating year at St. Joseph's Hospital in North Bay. They were married in Temiskaming in October 1971.

Bruce worked for INCO from September 1971 until August 1973. During the year 1972-73, he worked at the mines on the night shift and took a full college year at Laurentian by day. During the past college year, he greatly enjoyed his single occupation as a student.

Commerce Welcome

WELCOME Frosh and returning students! This year, the Commerce Students' Council has planned to promote a general atmosphere of spirit and loyalty among Commerce students. It is the Council's aim to liaise directly with the student body, informing them of events, as well as providing a channel through which the individual can discuss his "beefs" and make suggestions concerning both academic and extra-curricular life at Laurentian.

During orientation week, some of our students will be on hand to help the Frosh plan their course schedules. These "Big Brothers" and "Big Sisters" will also be available to give our new 1st year students a tour of the Campus. The Council will also be selling school T-shirts during registration. These shirts come in three colors and four sizes. Since they are being sold by the Council without a profit mark-up, they are a real bargain!

The Council is also planning a Social Evening to be held in the Great Hall on Wednesday, September 11th at 8:00pm. Come out and meet or reunite with your fellow students! This is your chance to get involved early in the school year.

This year promises much activity by and on behalf of the School of Commerce. Learn to identify with your school, and the academic year will bring new friends and interests, as well as a lot of enjoyment on the part of the student body. On behalf of the Executive of the Students' Council of the School of Commerce and Administration, may we welcome you to Laurentian University and wish you the best of luck in your academic year.

This year's Executive is as follows:

Glen Tolka, President
Pat Bardswich, Vice-President
Gord Simpson, Treasurer
Gini Beller, Secretary
Steve McNevitts, Social Convenor

The Council representatives are to be elected from each class. The Executive Council will be available for consultation at any time. They represent YOUR interests and only you can help them to fully recognize the needs of Commerce students.

The Unicorn

Welcome to University College! If, as a fresh person, you chose to enroll in UC, without coercion, bribe, or threat of physical brutality, I congratulate you upon your good taste. And if, as a staunch veteran of UC, you chose to return yet again to this bastion of iniquity . . . what can I say, but it's great to have you back!

For the "newies", this year's Orientation Week animal show will be fast and furious, so after you've settled yourself into the Big Time University, come out and enjoy the organized pandemonium because you're gonna need it after having battled your way through the game they call the Registration Maze. UC's Orientation Week activities are as follows:

Monday, Sept. 9: Information Coffee House - All Day Barbecue - 3 pm.

Tuesday, Sept. 10: Pub Night at the Sheraton Caswell 8 pm.

Wednesday, Sept. 11: Scavenger Hunt 4 pm. University College Residence Pub

Thursday, Sept 12: UC vs PHED in Sports 4-7 pm. Pub Night at the Kingsway Hotel.

Friday, Sept. 13: (A great day if ever there was one): Dance in the Great Hall, affectionately known by the stalwarts as the Grand Saloon.

In the past, University College has set quite a track record for itself, as far as being Laurentian's Number One College is concerned. Although the UC Student's Council Office is strategically situated in the dungeon of the UC Residence Building, the Council does not cater strictly to those living in residence, and University College activities are open to all students registered with our college.

Orientation Week is also the ideal opportunity for getting to know your Student Council. . . after you've met us, maybe you won't want to know us, but them's the breaks.

The 1974-75 Council consists of Louis Ouellette, President; Sandy Siren, English Vice-President; Serge Massie, French Vice-President; Mark Mleto, Treasurer; Lilly Borges, Secretary; Anita Fraser, Women's Sports Convenor, and a cast of countless thousand others who will undoubtedly be staggering back to good ole' HQ sooner or later . . . hopefully much later. There are still positions open on the Council, and any parties so inclined will find themselves very welcome in the UC Council Office.

Due to the promotions within the upper echelons, UC's Dean of Students, Principal and Registrar, J.M. Porter, has moved to higher ground. Students will be advised as to when and in what capacity his successor will take the helm.

"The Unicorn" will be included in each edition of Lambda, in order that you may check out the golgs-on and take advantage of what your college has to offer. It will undoubtedly be much more than you would have expected. Involvement is the key, whether it's in the way of academics, student government, athletics, or social activities and UC has it all. It all comes down to getting your message across . . . to us. And if we can't assist you personally in any matter which may interest or concern you, we'll know whose office to pack you off to.

It's going to be a wicked year, so make sure that you are involved right from the word GO!

Thorneloe Welcome

September 1974 marks the beginning of a new era at Thorneloe College Residence. In deed Thorneloe residents who had taken such pride in being the sole all-male residence on campus, the bastion of kingship now lowers its drawbridge to welcome most heartedly its long awaited queens. You guessed it, Thorneloe is going co-ed. You may rest assured that while all of us may regret the good old days of manhood rule, it gives us great pleasure to welcome all our fresh "froshels", and new members to our small community. We sincerely hope that together we can enhance Thorneloe's reputation on campus not only as a chug-a-lug champs, but as the sole residence providing closeness and intimacy through a tight-knit community. That's what Thorneloe has always been and hopefully, will always remain. Come on, let's pick the challenge, let's live together so that we can fully enjoy Thorneloe's new residence. say new because Thorneloe has been transformed from a medieval castle to a luxurious, modern palace: 52 fully-carpeted single rooms, telephones and refrigerators available for every room and for a minimal rent sauna baths, split level social centre equipped with fireplace and beverage facilities.

Thorneloe, due to its small size and budget cannot hope to sponsor Frosh week activities on a large scale, but will be participating in all events.

It will be having its own get-acquainted events such as a barbecue at the home of the College's Provost, Dr. V.B. Matthews.

Because of the change over, elections will be held in early October. So until then, stay tuned and cool.

STUDENT

If you were here last year but tend to get lost now that you're back, don't despair. Many of the student facilities were relocated to Student Street during the summer.

The only facilities that remain in the academic area are the vending machines, cafeteria, Pub, bank, bookstore and of course the library.

For the benefit of those who are now new to Laurentian, Student Street is located on the ground floor of Single Student Residence. To get there you turn in at the driveway leading to Single Students and fall down the treacherous stairs to the main entrance.

Across from the main entrance is the G4 - the confectionary store which sells groceries, health foods, candy, etc. It's open 6 days a week and is run by Gil Souliere and McCullaugh Hall.

Ahead and to the left of the grocery store is G1 - the Lambda office. We're still trying to get organized but it's a vast improvement over the cramped office that we had before. Our editors are Bob Forde and Vivian Easton. If you enjoy writing why not come in and help us out.

Further down the hall and on the left is G5, the Hitching Post. Pizzas, hamburgers and snacks are sold 7 days a week. It is owned by McCullaugh Hall, who also run the grocery store and vending machines on campus.

Also on the left and further down is G9, and G11, the S.G.A. offices. This year Nell MacDonald is President. Rachel Cantin is French Vice-President, Kathy Lindsay is secretary. Brian Wade and Mark Mioto are the social convenors. An election will be held to fill the position of English Vice-President, due to the tragic death of Bruce Bothwell during the summer. More about the election later.

Further down and to the left is the Porter's office and mailboxes for the Single and Married Students Apartments. It's open Monday to Friday from 9:30 am to 5:30 pm and is run by Gus Leblanc.

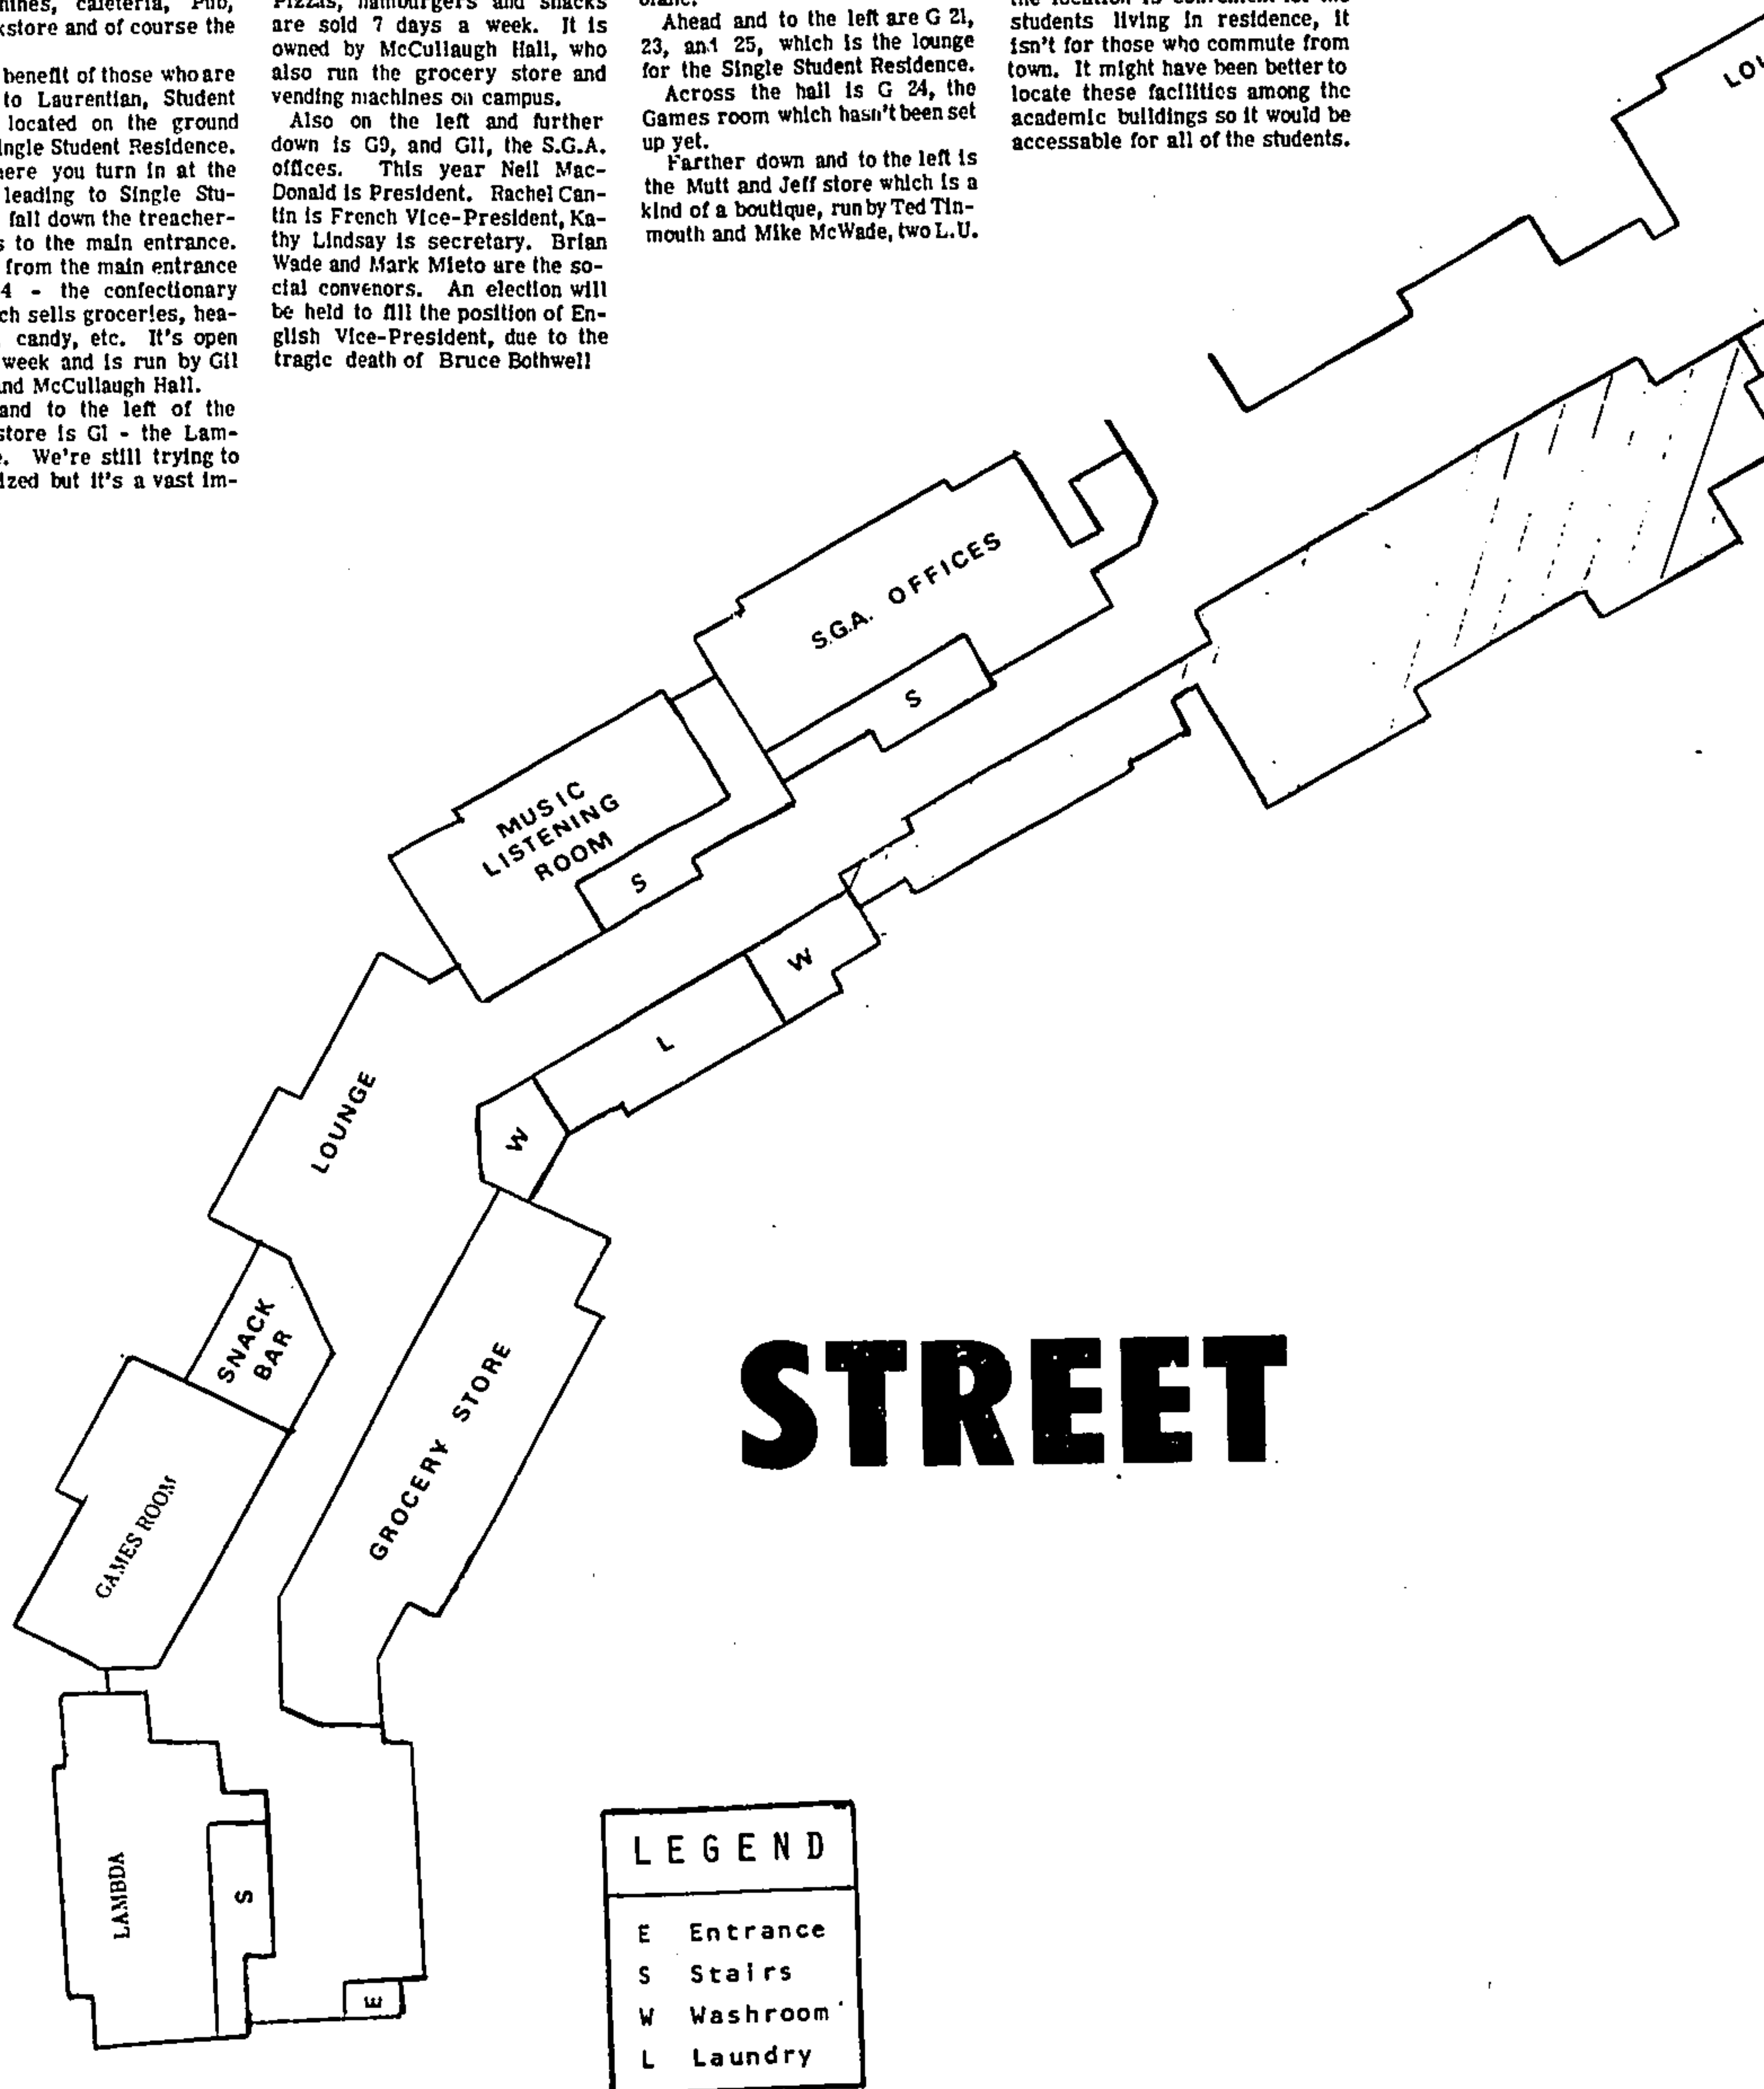

Ahead and to the left are G 21, 23, and 25, which is the lounge for the Single Student Residence.

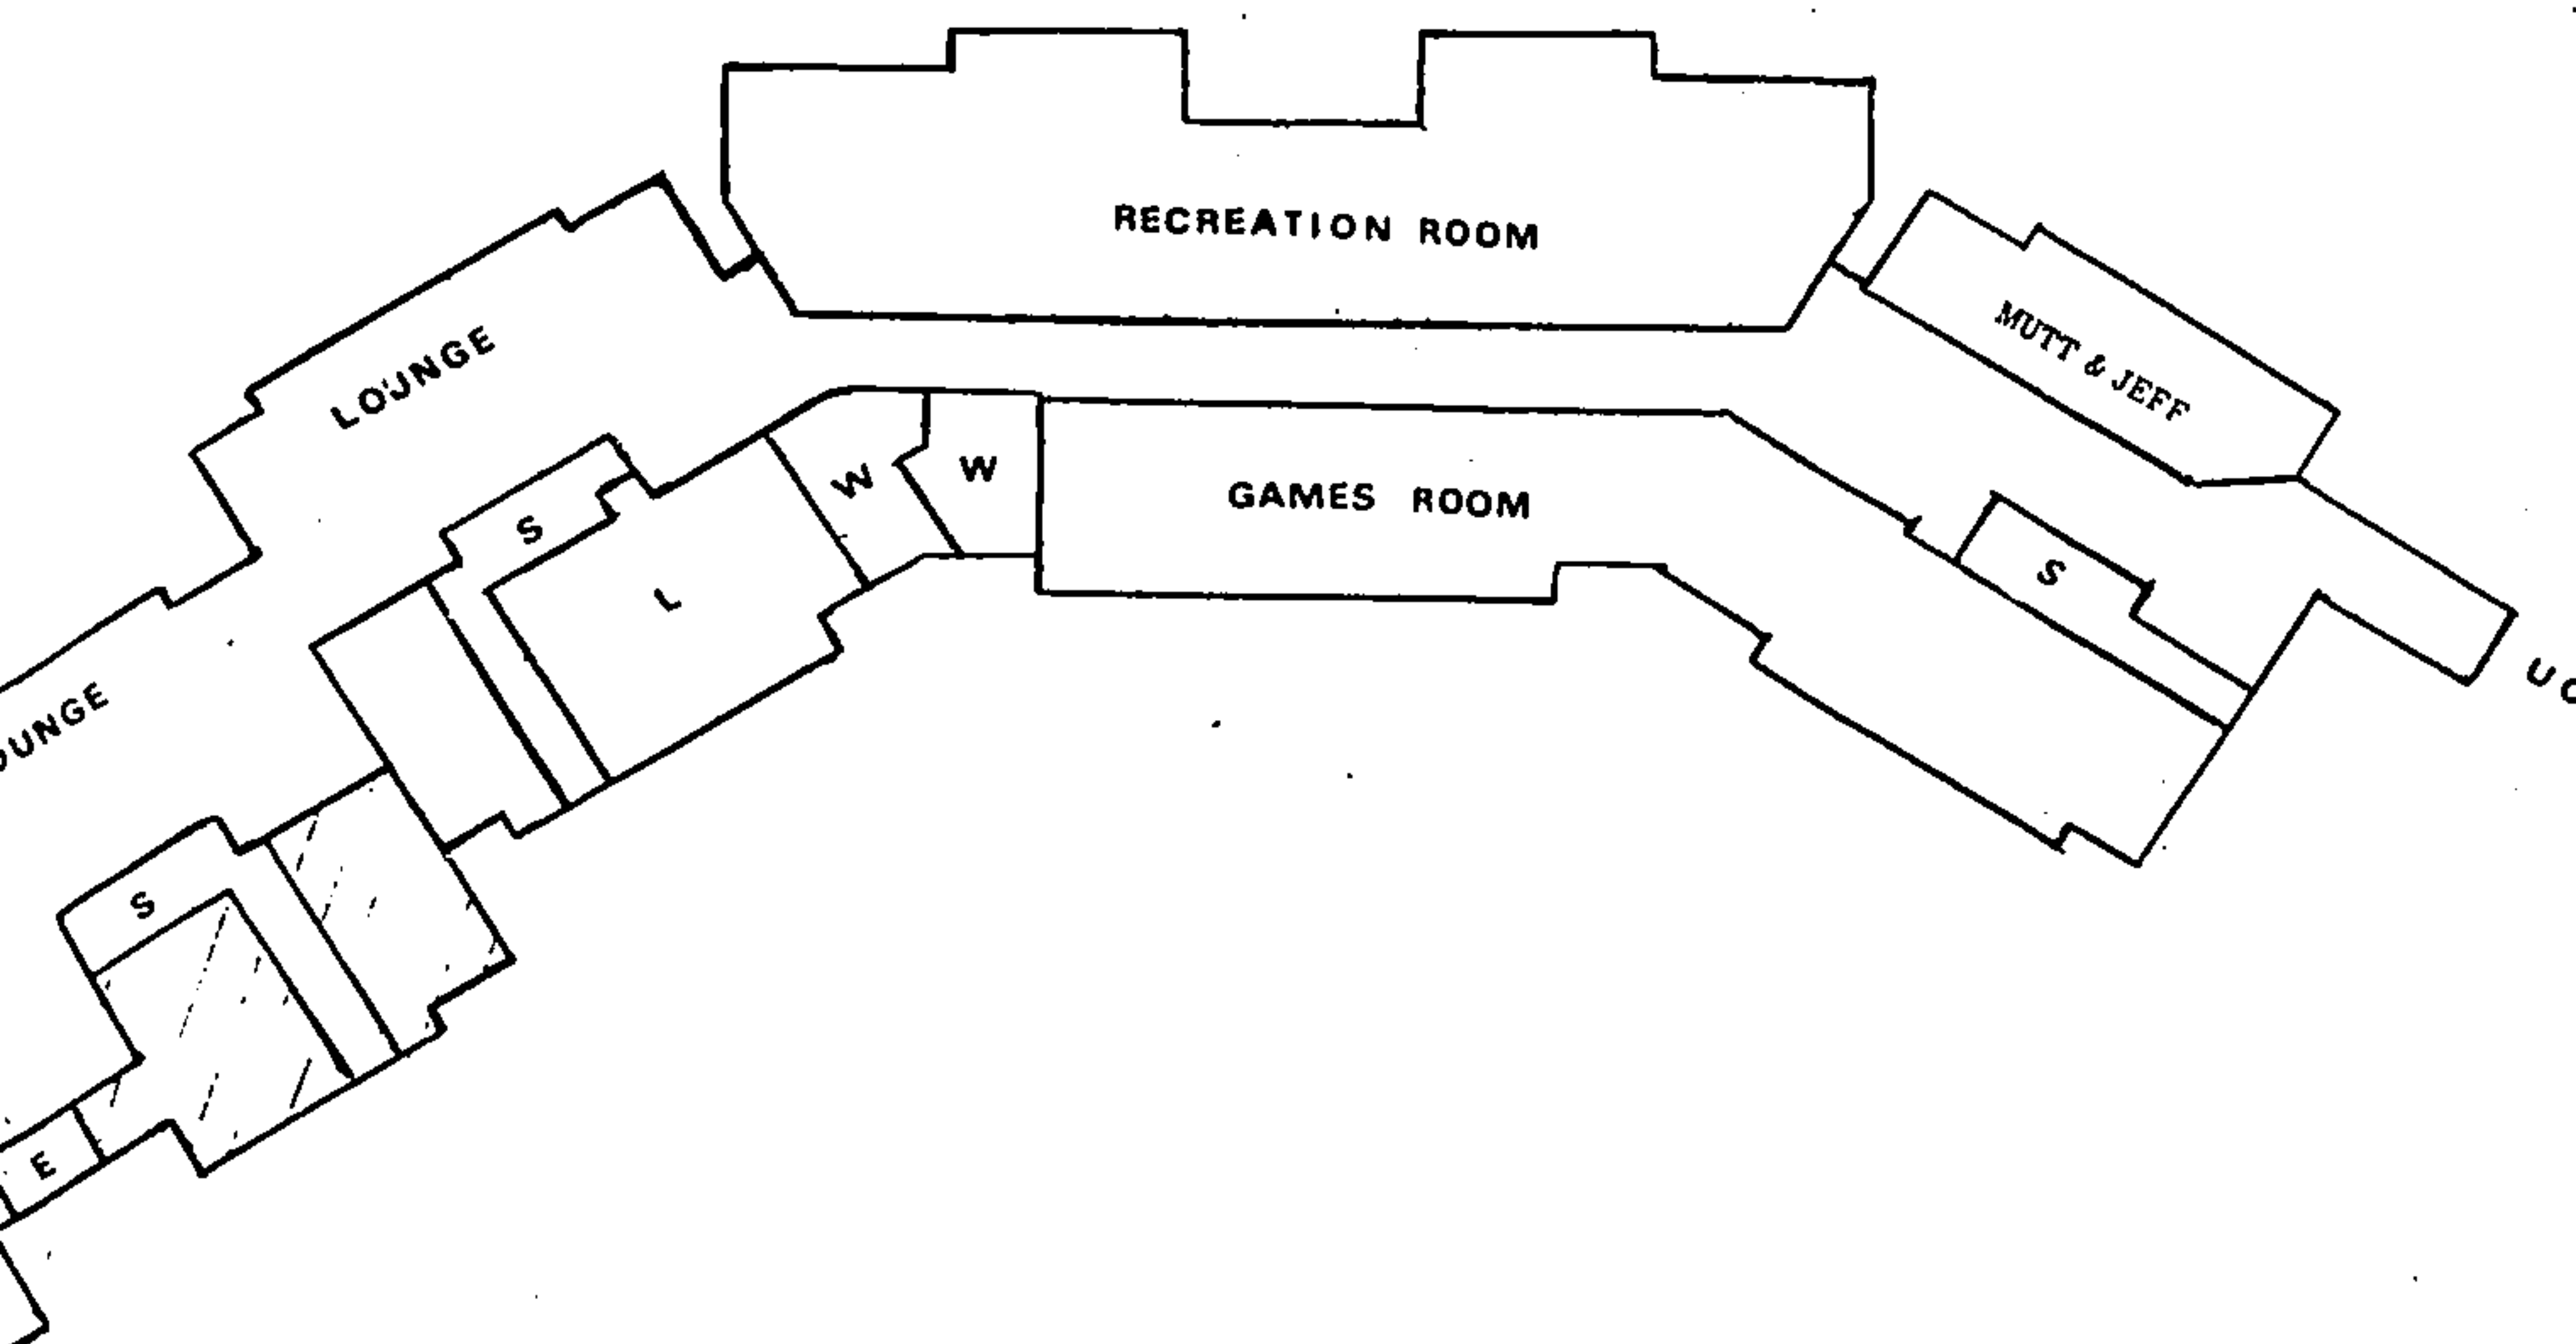

Across the hall is G 24, the Games room which hasn't been set up yet.

Farther down and to the left is the Mutt and Jeff store which is a kind of a boutique, run by Ted Timmouth and Mike McWade, two L.U.

students. They will sell L.U. crested articles.

These are the facilities that make up Student Street. We think it's a good idea to have all of the facilities for students together. Our only complaint is that while the location is convenient for the students living in residence, it isn't for those who commute from town. It might have been better to locate these facilities among the academic buildings so it would be accessible for all of the students.

University of Sudbury Welcome

A College to be Proud of ...

A hearty welcome to all frosh students enrolling at the University of Sudbury and to all returning students. We hope your stay with us will be a pleasant and exciting one.

Throughout the year there will be many activities and events planned to make your stay more enjoyable. But don't just spectate at these events, come on out and participate. We can use your help and we hope you can use ours.

Here's a short resumé of the U. of S., what it consists of and what its purposes are.

The University of Sudbury is the sole Roman Catholic bilingual College on the Laurentian campus. Within the College, there exists the University of Sudbury Residence which accommodates 164 men and women of various ethnic and cultural backgrounds. All students enrolled in the University of Sudbury Residence must be enrolled in the University of Sudbury College regardless of their academic programme. Students registering in either Arts or Science programmes may enroll in the U. of S. College at registration. Those registering in professional schools, may enroll in U. of S. through the College Council.

Each year, the student body of U. of S. elect a Council for both Residence and College to assist them in academic, personal, and social matters. The College Council consists of fifteen members and is a completely bilingual committee. The President of the U. of S. College Council for 1974-75 is Peter Merritt; the French Vice-President, Denyse Brunet; and the English Vice-President, Linda Conn. Any students registered in the U. of S. College may contact any one of the three above-mentioned people if difficulties, comments, or criticisms arise. The purpose of this Council is to plan, and organize academic as well as social activities for the students. In addition, the aims of the U. of S. parallel those of Laurentian University in that the U. of S. has pledged itself to the maintenance and promotion of multi-cultural and multi-lingual activities both within and without the academic life of the College.

The Residence Council consists of sixteen members, twelve of which are floor representatives after residence life begins. These floor reps advise the Council of any grievances and/or rule within the residence. This council also undertakes to provide the students with various activities to promote and encourage a warm and friendly social atmosphere within Residence. This year's President of the Residence Council is Paul Podstawka while his Vice-President is Andrea Hosick. Any resident students may contact them if a need arises in which assistance is required regarding residence matters.

Each student enrolling in the U. of S. Residence will receive a residence manual in which are set down the rules and regulations involved in residence life. These rules include visiting hours, damages, drug and intoxicant use, closing times, and matters of general concern. The rules were set down to provide and promote an atmosphere of academic study as well as exchange and to enriched social climate. Any repeated infractions of these rules will be dealt with by the Residence Council and/or the College Council. If any difficulties arise either within Residence or College, do not hesitate to contact us immediately. We're here to help you have a good life at University. Put us to use if you need us.

From the I.S.O. NOTEBOOK

The International Students' Organization was formed about a few years ago on the campus of Laurentian University to cater to those persons of the University community who had come from another country, province or city and who were willing to participate in a social, educational and cultural exchange. The Organization thus serves as a platform where students with diverse socio-economic backgrounds communicate with each other in an atmosphere of international brotherhood. We are affiliated to the Students' General Association, the Sudbury Folk Arts Council and co-operate in the work of the Experiment in International Living in Canada. We gain much support from the University and the President is a member.

Among others, the main part of our activities focuses on the development and understanding of cultures and of the problems facing people in other parts of the world. We do this in a number of ways, as will be noted when the events of International Week are described. However, it is our business to assist new students in meeting Canadians, to introduce them to the social customs and to integrate them as quickly as possible. This process begins even before their arrival, through our little handbook which is sent to foreign students once they are accepted at Laurentian. This informs them of appropriate clothing, health insurance plans, exchange rates and the like, and mentioning our willingness to meet them at their point of entry and to conduct them safely to campus.

The very name of our Organization suggests that it is totally international, Canadian and non-Canadian, and this is reflected in the composition of Executive with people from Canada and almost every continent on the globe. Membership has grown from 30 in 1971 to 77 in 1972; last year we closed our membership at 225.

Sudbury, like many other cities in Canada, is made up of a mosaic of cultures. We are only now benefiting from this rich reservoir and establishing the much needed rapport between the Ivory Tower of Laurentian and the Sudbury community as a whole across the lake. It was with this in mind that the I.S.O. sponsor International Week. During this week, in co-operation with our friends in the community, we present such activities as will highlight Canada's multi-culture and also draw attention, through films, speakers, etc. to the problems of Development in the world today. There are exhibitions, national dishes, multi-religious services, concerts, seminars/conferences, dances and the like. This week is definitely growing in popularity and draws significant crowds from the community.

During the year, we run a series of free film shows and discussion groups on issues of development culture, etc. Our column in the University newspaper (From the I.S.O.'s Notebook) has been a success.

Members of our organization are expected to act as resource personnel to the Geography and History departments of High Schools in the area.

From our meagre resources we attempt to assist those in need. At Christmas time we help the underprivileged people who lose their belongings, Oxfam (through collections at meals), etc.. We also assist groups like CUSO in whatever way we can.

During the last academic year a delegation of 23, including members of the I.S.O., faculty, administration and a member of the executive of the S.G.A., paid a visit to Guyana, South America, as guests of students of the University of Guyana and the Experiment in International Living in Guyana. We established a strong bond of friendship between the two universities and signed a "Friendship Agreement" to this effect. A delegation from the University of Guyana Students' Society will visit us in October/November to celebrate our Third Annual International Week with us (see letter on this page). This year we are hoping to make an Eastern tour during the study break.

Why not join us and become a member of Laurentian's #1 organization. Membership fees are $2.00 for old members and $3.00 for new members. Membership cards are available at our desk during Registration Week, at our 'Get-Together', at our office Room 101, Married Students' Residence or from any member of the Executive. Hurry before we close our membership.

Student Exchange & Friendship Society,
c/o U.G. Students' Society.
July 9th, 1974.

To the I.S.O.

On behalf of the Student Exchange and Friendship Society of the U.G. Students' Society, we wish to formally accept your letter of invitation to members of the student body of University of Guyana to pay a "return visit" to Laurentian University, Sudbury, to celebrate International Week with you.

We must mention how deeply grateful we are for such a word of invitation and hope that our proposed visit would strengthen the bonds of friendship that exist between our two universities, all with the ultimate aim of bringing our two universities together.

Now that we have come to the end of our academic year we are going full ahead with our fund raising projects. Already we have realised some one-eighth of our target. However, we cannot, at this stage, be particular as to the actual number of persons who will visit Laurentian University as this will very much depend on the amount of fund realized. What we are positive of however is that we will make the trip.

The Student Exchange and Friendship Society has been formed as a direct result of the "Friendly Agreement" and is now looking into all aspects of arranging this proposed trip to Laurentian University.

We have already discussed with our Administration the proposed visit and indeed we are proud to say that they have promised to give every possible help they can. They have also noted with pleasure our efforts to establish fraternal ties at an international level.

We shall endeavour to keep you informed of our activities. A list of the members of the proposed visit will be forthcoming sometime in September.

Please convey our regards to all our friends who visited us.

With thanks.

For and on behalf of the Student Exchange and Friendship Society,

Vekehanand Madho

Another Welcome

Hi!
Welcome or welcome back to Laurentian.
I trust you had an enjoyable summer collecting pogeys, tripping around or working.
Things ran rather smoothly at Laurentian except for the untimely demise of Bruce Bothwell.....
Bruce was the S.G.A. English Vice President.
There is a trust fund being set up in his name and I expect to find a great number of you to be present at that particular dance on Friday, September 20.

The social aspects of university life will be made available to you like they never were before. Laurentian is rather well known for its drinking and debauchery and this tradition will be carried on in our new watering-hole located beneath the Great Hall and called 'Voyageur'.
We have a slew of events scheduled for you and it promises to be a very interesting year.
Hope you score in '74 and survive in '75.

Memoriam

A student enrolled in University College and who was to begin the second year of an Arts programme, Glenn J. Kearns, was killed in an automobile accident near Huntsville on August 4.

The President of Laurentian University, Dr. E.J. Monahan expressed to Glenn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Kearns, who reside in Barrie his sincere sorrow and sympathy and that of all the members of the Faculty, Staff and Student Body of Laurentian University.

What am I doing here?

People attend university for various reasons. Some students enrolled in courses such as Nursing, Social Work or Commerce have definite careers in mind. A lot of students having completed grade thirteen come to university because they're not really sure what they want or because university sounds exciting. Having worked for a few years many people decide to come to university to upgrade their education or because they want a change. And then there are those people who come to university because they don't know where else to go.

No matter what category a student fits into, she will probably wonder at some point "What am I doing here?" Perhaps the question sounds strange for someone who by the time they reach University is expected to have some sort of goal or ambition. When a person starts asking herself "What am I doing here?", it's a good sign. Too many people do whatever they're doing never bothering to question their actions or motives. Sometimes in the jumble of everyday routine activities a person loses contact with the things one really wants to do.

"What am I doing here?" The question strikes one at different times during the year especially when things aren't going the way one planned. When there's too many essays or when one's studying her notes and feels a frightening blank. The question especially haunts one when she hears everyone around her talking about what they're doing, sounding so confident of their future and what they want and how to achieve it.

The question "What am I doing?" leads to another question, "How am I doing?", meaning, "Have I improved at all, have I changed, have I become more aware of something that I never realized before?"

"What am I doing here?" Ask yourself the question. You might find out some new things about yourself. Maybe you'll realize what it is you really want to do and it may have nothing to do with university. Maybe you'll be glad that you attended university or maybe you'll feel your time here has been wasted. It won't have been wasted if you have a clearer idea of what you want.

"What am I doing here?" It's a revealing question and a good beginning.

WATER, WATER everywhere

You love the water. You're attracted to it. You love to swim and won't give it up for a day.

Even if you have your period, you know you can swim dependably protected with Tampax tampons. They give you internal protection that won't irritate or cause discomfort. Protection that won't cause odor. Protection that can't slip or show under swimsuits. Protection small enough to be carried discreetly wherever you go.

Wherever there's water, there you are. Swimming every day. Protected, sure of yourself because you use Tampax tampons.

C.N.I.B. Campaign

For the past several years the first year students at Laurentian University have assisted The Canadian National Institute for the Blind with its annual financial campaign. Over 1,000 students have participated in this one night Blitz and have raised a large amount of money in order to help the CNIB to turn help the blind people of this community.

Once again we are asking you to participate in this annual activity. It will take only one or two hours of your time on Monday evening, September 16th, 1974 and I understand our function will be followed up by a dance in the Great Hall.

Last year more than 400 blind students attended universities and colleges across Canada. In the Sudbury area, this year we will have two students attending university and one at Cambrian College. The goals of these individuals range from such careers as physiotherapist, social workers, teaching and even law. Your part in this annual event is very important if the CNIB is to continue to help young blind people to have equal opportunities in our society.

Such activities as the CNIB annual financial campaign is in part one of the university's activities. If these and other activities are to be successful we will need your support.

For the past two years the students of Huntington College have given total participation and for this reason have received the trophy for raising the largest amount of funds.
